The course is set at an intermediate level, and an assumed level of knowledge (detailed in our guidance) is required prior to attendance. Lecturers will not slow the course down to accommodate those who have not gained the relevant pre-course knowledge and understanding of the appropriate law.

The provider will issue a 'certificate of full attendance' when you successfully complete the course. You should then apply for membership to the scheme within six months of completing the course and attach a copy of the certificate of completion to the assessment questionnaire.
