

AN INTRODUCTION TO COLLABORATIVE FAMILY LAW

The seminar

This 2 hour CPD accredited seminar explores the background to collaborative family law, focussing on preparation, pitfalls and how to successfully put collaboration in to practice.

This practical and participative seminar will provide attendees with a comprehensive guide to the latest models of practice, including information on:-

- What is collaborative family law?
- When and how to use collaboration successfully
- How you and your clients can benefit from using collaborative family law as a method of dispute resolution
- The future

Who should attend?

All family law practitioners who have not yet undertaken any collaborative training.

The Speaker

Jane Oakes LL.M is the current President of Cambridgeshire and District Law Society and is Chair of Cambridge and West Suffolk Resolution Service. She is a collaborative lawyer with Tee Collaborative, an interdisciplinary practice and subsidiary of Stanley Tee Solicitors. After qualifying in 1974, Jane went on to specialise in family law. She has since trained as a mediator and undertaken extensive collaborative law training in both the UK and North America. Jane now undertakes collaborative law work for separating couples and has undertaken over 50 collaborative cases.
