

LEXCEL TRAINING FOR PRACTICES

The purpose of this course:

Lexcel is the Law Society's practice management quality mark. Written specifically for the legal profession, it allows any type and size of practice to undergo independent assessment to certify that the Lexcel Practice Management Standard is being met.

This one day workshop based course explains the concepts of best practice for managing legal practices using the Lexcel Practice Management Standard as a framework.

The Lexcel Practice Management Standard is examined in detail, enabling delegates to have an in depth knowledge of the standard and its application.

Who this course is for:

This course is for anyone working in a legal practice that needs to understand how the Lexcel Practice Management Standard is applied in a legal practice.

The Principal Trainer: Matthew Moore

Originally a law teacher and then a solicitor in private practice Matthew has over 15 years' experience of consulting law firms on management issues. He advised a number of firms which lead them to achieving Lexcel accreditation. He also trained as a lead auditor under ISO9000 and as an Investors In People assessor. In addition he is the managing director of Web4Law.
